ABOUT THE RELEASE

Today, New Zealand singer/producer/multi-instrumentalist Amelia Murray, the artist behind Fazerdaze, releases her first project in over five years - the powerful and cathartic EP Break! - out now via section1. Taking stock at an emotional bottom, with her new release Fazerdaze crafts an empowering portrait of surrender and personal reclamation.

EACH TRACK

Featuring the 90's indebted single 'Come Apart' and the previously released title track 'Break!', the EP showcases three brand new songs from the burgeoning artist. You can now listen to the gentle, fluttering 'Winter', 'Overthink It' - a grunge-inflected mantra for those prone to a bout of the brain worms, and the focus track 'Thick of the Honey', which traverses psych territory. The EP is a vital release for Amelia, who wrote it whilst on a journey of rediscovery as both musician and human.

QUOTE FROM ARTIST

In Amelia's words, "Because I was so private about the pain I was experiencing I called the EP 'Break!' to reflect the way that I got myself out of the pain; by breaking, shouting for help, drawing a line and telling people around me that I'd had enough. It was an ugly but transformative time, and I made massive shifts forward in my life when I finally allowed myself to come undone. In this space of brokenness, I found power, freedom, a blank canvas. Break! is ultimately about surrender and acceptance of ugly truths."

MORE INFO ABOUT
ARTIST/RELEASE

Fazerdaze's debut LP, 2017's Morningside, launched Amelia onto the global stage with rave reviews from publications like Pitchfork and Mojo and tours to the other side of the world from her previous home base of Auckland. But the wheels were coming off behind the scenes. A combination of unhealthy personal relationships, feelings of unworthiness regarding her burgeoning success and general mental exhaustion soon began to manifest in her musical output; for years, Amelia found she couldn't finish a single song. That is until she relinquished resilience as a badge of honour and let herself crack open.

Break! was completed during a three-month-long lockdown in NZ while Amelia was living in solitude for the first time and directly in the aftermath of a nine-year-long relationship.
